

Local and Personal

We notice that Fowler & Jarrell have a spanken bran new beer wagon.

The big shows arrived Tuesday night and have been doing a nice business.

W. F. Wofford, of Mowry, Ariz., was a Tucumcari visitor this week, the guest of Albert Wilborn.

District Attorney M. C. Mechem returned Tuesday from a short visit to his home at Ft. Smith, Ark.

W. F. Hunt, off the Frisco out of Chicago, is now running extra out of Tucumcari as freight conductor.

P. S. Hickman, brakeman off the Illinois Central, is coming here to take a situation on the Dawson branch.

A. S. Hess, representing the Hutchinson News, was soliciting business here several days this week.

Fred Surguy and wife came in Friday from Colgate, I. T. They were snow-bound a day or two getting to the ranch 12 miles northeast of town.

Attorney C. C. Davidson is in Santa Rosalia, Mexico this week taking the baths which he hopes will rid him of rheumatism.

Gus Mathis left Tuesday to spend two or three weeks at Santa Rosalia, Mexico. He is going to boil out rheumatism.

M. B. Fowler is in Kansas City for treatment under a specialist for catarrhal troubles. He will be away a week or ten days.

Daniel Ebbs and wife of Waldrip, Texas, are in the city visiting relatives. Louis Bays is their son-in-law, and I. N. Ebbs and Lulu Dameron are their children. They reside 15 miles south of town.

Trinidad Romero, of Estancia, uncle of Mrs. N. V. Gallegos, is in the city visiting the Gallegos family. Mr. Romero is prominent in New Mexico politics, being an ex-delegate to Congress and an ex-marshal of this territory.

The craft of Northeast New Mexico is grieved this week to learn of the death of Editor Hanson, of the Roy Spanish-American. He was a useful man to that growing community, and will be greatly missed by the business interests of that section.

A. N. Van Hooser, of Gentry, and B. P. Leforce, of Silome, Ark., were Tucumcari visitors this week, and while here took homesteads. They will return home and prepare to move to Quay county.

A. R. Carter is getting ready to build a 350-foot bridge across the Revuelto on his automobile road. As soon as this is finished the automobile line will be put into operation.

A well machine for sale.—M. Mechem. 4 27tf

W. J. Pittman, a San Jon farmer was in Thursday to buy supplies.

Father Haseltman is here from Puerto de Luna, and will visit for a few days.

Dr. Russell's auto machine is here and the Doctor is having a d—l of a time with it.

P. P. Parsons, late of West Virginia, will begin teaching the Moore school on April 29.

A. D. Pankey and Wyatt Johnson have purchased the photo outfit from Mrs. Neis. They are doing a nice business.

J. B. Hardy tells the editor that he has planted 74 acres just in time to have it coming up before the snow. Some of his crop is now assured. Oats will make in Quay county without any more rain.

The first car-load of brick received from Ancho came to J. H. McRae this week and is being used in the Mitchel building. The brick are pronounced to be of excellent quality, smooth and of good appearance. They are from the first kiln turned out by the Rock Island cement company. McRae is using in the same building brick from El Paso, Santa Fe and Ancho.—Almogordo Advertiser.

Judge V. S. Montoya went to his ranges 40 miles south of Tucumcari, Wednesday morning to begin caring for his herds during the lambing season. The recent storm in this section of New Mexico did little, if any damage to stock interests. Lambing had not yet begun in any part of Northeast New Mexico.

Hon. Carl A. Dailes, prominent among the members of the council of the 37th Legislative Assembly, died at his home at Willard, in Torrance county on the morning of the 22nd of heart trouble. He had a very promising future in both politics and business in New Mexico, and his death brings sorrow not only to his immediate family but many strong friends.

The New Mexican is in receipt of a neat little pamphlet setting forth the advantages of Tucumcari and Quay county. For information with real value to the homeseeker this folder just about fills the bill.—Nara Visa New Mexican.
